

HELPS RESCUE FOUR AND THEN VANISHES

Hero Braves, Asphyxiation to Save Workmen From Gas-Filled Subway Shaft.

NEW YORK, March 6.—A man of whose identity the police have not the slightest knowledge braved asphyxiation in the gas filled shaft of the new Jerome avenue subway extension at 140th street, the Bronx. He was the one first to give warning of the workers' peril and was first to venture into the cut.

When Policeman Halligan, of the Alexander avenue station, after throwing away his heavy coat and night stick, felt his way along a ledge through the darkness and suffocating fumes, he met the volunteer hero staggering out and dragging with him one of the workmen who had been overcome.

The three were assisted to safety by another party of rescuers. The man on reviving disappeared even before the police were able to get his name. A gasoline pump used to clear the excavation of water generated the fumes, which narrowly missed causing from four to six fatalities. Instructions had been given that no one was to stay about the pump after it had been started, but it is supposed the order had been disregarded.

Overcome Going to Rescue.
William Schellmeyer, a machinist, of 282 Main street, Yonkers; J. Frank Reder, a machinist's helper, of 1148 Tinton avenue, the Bronx, and Harry Weynel, a helper, of 676 Mott avenue, the Bronx, were in the shaft and were the first overcome. Thomas Gilroy, of 2760 Eighth avenue, Manhattan, their foreman, was overcome in going to their rescue.

Dr. Jacob Geiger, an ambulance surgeon of Lincoln Hospital, also took part in the rescue work, and he, with Policeman Halligan, was unconscious temporarily from the effects of the fumes. The workmen were sent to the hospital. Geiger and Halligan were revived by pulmotors and went home. Schellmeyer was in the most serious condition, but will live.

AMOS MUSSELMAN DEAD.
GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., March 6.—Amos Musselman, one of the most prominent Republicans in Michigan, and candidate for governor of the State in 1912, died at his home here last night.

BLOW ON THE HEAD AS ARSON DEFENSE

University of Virginia Student
Expected to Plead Aberration.

RICHMOND, Va., March 6.—S. Dabney Crenshaw, Jr., University of Virginia student, charged with burning the industrial chemical laboratory at the university January 26, in order to conceal the theft of $2,500 worth of platinum, probably will advance the defense of aberration of mind, due to a blow he received on the head several years ago while a student at the Episcopal High School, near Alexandria.

Crenshaw, who is a grandson of the late Gen. Cassius M. Clay, of Kentucky, sustained a fall in a shower bath and for several weeks lingered between life and death at Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore. He is now out on $10,000 bond, pending action of the Albemarle county grand jury, for which he was held following his arrest at the university a few days ago.

his studies. He was a member of the Delta Tau Delta Fraternity. In his room in the fraternity house, according to State Fire Marshal Twynning, who arrested him, was found some of the missing platinum. His efforts to sell a portion of the metal to a Newark, N. J., firm brought about his arrest, Twynning said.

Damage resulting from the fire was placed at $75,000.

Crenshaw is now at the home of his parents in this city. His mother, a daughter of Gen. Cassius M. Clay, was a Kentucky belle before her marriage.

"Jackie" Returns Fine Compassionate Court Clerk Put Up.

NEW YORK, March 6.—Louis Feldman, a seaman of the crew of the dreadnaught Pennsylvania, had such a stormy time on shore leave one night several weeks ago that he was arraigned in the men's night court on a charge of causing a disturbance in a subway train. He was fined $3.

DEARTH OF PRIESTS IS CAUSED BY WAR

Appeals Received to Recruit
Young Men to Take Catholic Orders.

NEW YORK, March 6.—The shortage of Roman Catholic priests in some parts of Europe has been so great on account of the war that priests here whose congregations are derived from Latin sources have received appeals within the last week to recruit young men of their acquaintance for the priesthood.

The appeals come particularly from Italy, France, and Ireland, and they state that so many Catholic priests are with the armies at war and so many of them have died or have been incapacitated from further service, that many churches have been forced to close because of the lack of a priest. Young men have entered the army who would normally study for the priesthood, so the depleted ranks of the priests cannot be filled in Europe. The seminaries of Rome report many vacant rooms. Missionary projects are being dropped in order to employ at home the priests who would carry them through.

pressed into service and others more active find it necessary to hold mass in several churches on the same day, speeding in automobiles from one church to the other in order that at least one service may be held in each church. Boys are being encouraged to look forward to careers in the church so the shortage may be overcome eventually.

Cocoanut Oil Fine For Washing Hair

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Just plain mulled coconut oil (which is pure and entirely greaseless) is much better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoons will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff, and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy, and easy to manage.

thorities are looking to this country for recruits.

If Food Disagrees Drink Hot Water

When food lies like lead in your stomach and you have that uncomfortable bloated feeling and your stomach is sour and burning it is usually because of insufficient blood supply to the stomach combined with acid and food fermentation.

In such a case the best and safest treatment you can possibly use is to take a teaspoonful of pure bleached magnesia in half a glass of water as hot as you can comfortably drink it. The hot water draws the blood to the stomach and the bleached magnesia, as physicians can tell you, is a powerful but harmless antacid which quickly neutralizes the excess acid, sweetens your stomach contents and stops food fermentation.

This hot water and magnesia treatment is a far better plan than that of swallowing some pill or tablet which simply artificially digests your food and sends it still a sour, fermenting acid mass into the intestines where it will do almost as much harm as in the stomach.

As there are various forms of magnesia be sure in following above directions to ask the druggist for Bleached Magnesia (either in powder or tablet form) which is especially prepared for correction of stomach acidity. Try this simple plan of using Bleached Magnesia after meals to prevent food fermentation and to neutralize stomach acidity. You will be astonished at the immediate relief and comfort that always follows the restoration of the normal process of digestion.—Advt.

"No More Hot Irons Can Press My Trousers"

"No, Sir! NO, SIR! Never again will I go back to the old-time, expensive, unsanitary, slow plan of having the tailor do my trouser pressing with a hot iron that scorches and hot steam that rots the very life out of the fibres of the cloth." You can now put on a new looking pair of trousers every morning of your life, with a Pennsylvania Avenue finish (that by the old hot-iron method would cost you $2.00 a month), for less than 1c a month by just handing out a dollar for

Leahey's HEATLESS Trouser Press

(Protected by U. S. Letter Patent No. 1,112,922.)

It's the simplest, cleverest, and most efficient men's appliance that has ever been invented. There is no operating expense whatsoever. You just put your trousers in the press at night, hang the press over the back of the chair, or in the closet. Wake up next morning and get into your spick and span trousers, thoroughly pressed, thoroughly stretched, smooth and snappy, with a knifelike crease from belt to boot. One pair of trousers can always look as well (if you use a Leahey Heatless Trousers Press) as the millionaire with fifty pairs.
